

@ Zaha's Place testimonials

*"Returning to the fountain; that's how I would describe and define this wonderful masterpiece created by Maestro Eduardo Marturet. It's made me find a side of me that I had totally forgotten... Peace!
Bravo Maestro!"*

Rudy Perez

Multi Award Winning Producer, Songwriter & President / Founder of the Latin Songwriters Hall of Fame

"@ Zaha's place" a composition put together by Eduardo Marturet, transported my awareness to a level I have never experienced before. I was paintings an abstract for an exhibition when my husband put the music on. My feelings arose like waves each dancing to its own strength; reaching various heights but all returning to my heart in a rhythm perfectly balanced and marvellously beautiful.

"@ Zaha's Place" is a precious gift. It carries the strength to mend a broken heart. It knows how to bring the body and soul in harmony. But it does more than that. It connects the outer world with the inner world and paves way for us to experience the true nature of our being "Joy"

Heather Welsh

Visual Artist

"What a World, a perfect combination of intuitive and sensual environmental sound and the rigor and discipline and architecture born of the genius of a world-class musician. Zaha's Place – where I live"

Christopher O'Riley

Pianist

"Composed as a gift for the home of world-renown architect Zaha Hadid, Marturet's "@ Zaha's Place" is a gentle musical invitation for us to experience our mind and spirit in privacy and peace. A must have... this is music to be cherished."

Tulio Cremisini

Composer

"The soundscape created by Eduardo Marturet is brilliant in its sublimeness, creativity, and ethereal essence. I can think of no other music that equals "@ Zaha's Place" for the purposes of meditation, yoga, or relaxation."

Jerry Haar

Professor of Business - Florida International University

*"Eduardo, as usual, has created a mesmerizing and relaxing music. I have enjoyed very much!!
!!!!Hurrah.. Maestro!!"*

Julio Cesar Camacho

Journalist

"Very quickly, my bewilderment about the technical skillfulness and overall intelligence with which the piece was composed was overpowered by its overwhelming beauty. All I could do was to let myself go, listen, and enjoy. A sonic out of body experience."

Florencia Di Concilio

Composer

"@ Zaha's Place takes me into far away places deep in the soul of it's melody."

Kalena Nuñez

Designer

"This music has a really magical aspect and I have even used it to let the stereo playing in loop just to "clear the air" and bring good vibes."

Andre Mehmari

Composer

"An entrancingly warm sonic ambience. Air-filled and spacious with delicate vibrations accentuating the space across the evolution of the meditative composition. You are taken through an ethereal auditory journey of refreshing peace and rejuvenating tranquility."

Giuliano Rios

Singer Songwriter/Audio Engineer

"More often than not, we demand mood altering results from soundscape music when we want to "go places". An unfair request really, since all we commit to the transaction is an unapologetic passivity, maybe a comfortable couch. Personally, I have developed a bit of ear fatigue with ambient and mood music. Which is why Marturet's new work has gained posture in my music room, and keeps playing in a loop. A very smart, rich score, with a haunting melodic riff, this music plays like a soothing mantra. Yet there is nothing gratuitous about this journey, because this is not a multi-site tour, but a portrait of a very specific intimate space which we want to keep visiting: Zaha's Place."

Alfredo Cubiña

Entrepreneur

"@ Zaha's Place is a Sanctuary after a hard's work day. Totally recommend it."

Maria Bestar

Singer / Composer

"Private Music @Zaha's Place, by Maestro Eduardo Marturet, is a journey of non invasive however permeable sounds, like gentle breeze swinging bells from a temple as ancient as the soul itself, that through calmness into positive feelings, creates an atmosphere of self confidence and focused thoughts."
